WHAT IS THE PROBLEM?

As General Counsel & In-House Legal team, you are responsible for ensuring that your organisation complies with all relevant laws and regulations while carrying out its daily business operations. This is not easy and you are often firefighting issues.

Ever-evolving list of laws & regulations

- Keeping up to date with these can be time consuming.
- Non-compliance can attract lawsuits and regulatory investigations, causing financial loss and reputational damage.

Current approaches are reactive and ineffective

- Most risk management solutions are reactive and focus on identifying risks after they have occurred (e.g., surveillance).
- You normally only find out about an issue when it's too late and you are left firefighting to mitigate the consequences.

One is all it takes

- It only takes one mistake, one mishap, one bad actor to put your organisation at risk.
- Real-time, proactive compliance on your electronic communications is essential.

1 in 20 emails on average contains a potential compliance breach.
