WHAT IS THE PROBLEM?

As the Human Resources team, the wellbeing of your employees and the culture of your organisation are of utmost importance to you. Safeguarding employee wellbeing is key.

Ever-evolving list of laws & regulations

- Keeping up to date with these can be time consuming.
- Non-compliance can attract lawsuits and regulatory investigations, causing financial loss and reputational damage.

Current approaches are reactive and ineffective

- Most risk management solutions are reactive and focus on identifying risks after they have occurred (e.g., surveillance).
- Research shows that employees forget 50% of training content within an hour and 70% by the next day.

One is all it takes

- It only takes one mistake, one mishap, one bad actor to put your organisation at risk.
- Real-time, proactive compliance on your electronic communications is essential.
